
EQUALITY ACTION PLAN

INTRODUCTION

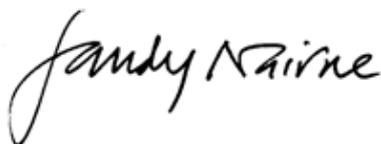

This document represents a comprehensive Equality Action Plan. It sets out the Gallery's duties under existing legislation: The Race Relations (Amended) Act 2000 and The Disability Discrimination Act 2005, along with the Equality Act 2010, which now simplifies and strengthens existing anti-discrimination legislation and harmonises provisions relating to sex, race, disability, sexual orientation, religion or belief and age. It also represents the Gallery's own determination to work in the most positive and responsible manner across all equality matters.

The National Portrait Gallery is an institution dedicated to acknowledging significant achievement across all ages and of all kinds. The determination to widen interest in portraiture is matched by the recognition that broadening interest in all aspects of the Gallery's work, and reaching out to all parts of society, are part of the core mission of the organisation. In 2004 the Gallery received the Adapt Trust Award for excellence for accessibility and the national Tourism for All Award. In 2006 the Gallery won the London Large Tourist Attraction of the Year Award and was short listed in 2009.

In parallel with broadening interest in portraiture, we have also been active in promoting equality at work. For a number of years the Gallery has been consulting with staff, and creating Actions Plans has been an important part of our work. The first Equality Policy and Action Plan were created in April 2003, followed by an Equality Survey in October 2003, with updated and revised Equality Action Plans in 2005 and 2007. Employee Surveys undertaken in 2006 and 2008 have also helped inform our plans.

Ensuring employees are aware of our plans and are active in contributing to them are important objectives of our equality and diversity training. We have established the Equality Steering Group with representatives from across the Gallery that meets on a quarterly basis to help promote better understanding of equality matters across the whole Gallery. This group has been vital in creating this new look Action Plan that describes not only employment equality but generic and individual departmental actions that promote equality in all of our activities.

I hope that our continued determination to promote equality at the National Portrait Gallery will find the most creative and wide-ranging of forms. Equality is something that matters for everyone in the organisation.

recruitment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Gallery seeks to understand the impact and effects of its employment policies through membership of specialist organisations concerned with improving and mainstreaming policies and practices for disadvantaged groups e.g. the Employer's Forum on Disability http://www.efd.org.uk/, Business in the community 'Race for Opportunity' http://www.bitc.org.uk/workplace/diversity_and_inclusion/race/ Opportunity Now Homepage - http://www.opportunitynow.org.uk/ Personnel team attend events to support and encourage employment from underrepresented group's e.g. Royal National Institute for the Blind, British Dyslexia Association, etc. The Gallery aims to recruit and retain employees from the widest talent pool and not just selected parts. The Gallery's Recruitment Policy and Guidelines (introduced in 2003 and updated in 2011) ensure effectiveness at delivering a diverse range of employees. Employment, volunteering and internship opportunities are advertised in a variety of ways and to specialist press and websites. Applications from disabled, black and minority ethnic people are encouraged through a permanent presence on sites such as: http://www.disabilityjobsite.co.uk/ and http://www.ethnicjobsite.co.uk/ Employees involved in recruitment and managing staff are aware of the legislative framework for fair employment practice, with specific training given to those involved in recruiting and managing staff. Disabled, black and minority ethnic employees are involved in the formulation of the Gallery's Equality Action Plan. Given the relatively small numbers involved at the Gallery all staff will be invited to comment on the plan.
Training	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> All employees are given a copy of the Gallery's Equality Policy and our Equality and Diversity Leaflet on their first day of employment. Equality training is provided for all staff within their first four months at the Gallery. This explains our policy, the legal framework and the business case for equality. Refresher training for all staff will be provided every three years. This training is mandatory. We provide regular opportunities for employees to learn more about specific areas of diversity e.g. young people awareness, disability awareness, hidden disabilities, etc. Training is provided in relevant departments on the use of auxiliary equipment and support materials e.g. induction hearing loops, audio guides, etc. The visitor Services team have a number of staff trained in visual interpretation for guided tours. We provide training opportunities that will enable staff with varying hours/days of work to attend.
monitoring	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Employment data is monitored to understand the current composition of the workforce and to identify where inequalities exist. All applicants and employees complete an Equality Monitoring Form covering disability, culture and gender. The relative success rates of diverse groups of applicants for employment are compared and any factors affecting these are explored. Equal pay audits are conducted bi-annually; results are shared with trade union and staff representatives. The composition of the Gallery's workforce is changing to be more reflective of the 2001 census London. Targets for increasing the % of disabled and black and minority ethnic staff have been set. The composition of the Gallery's workforce is included in the Annual Review.

TOPIC	ACTIVITY
Work Placements & Internships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> We offer work placements to underrepresented groups by developing appropriate links. We work with Westminster Education and Business Partnership and local state schools to offer a two-week programme of work experience to year 10 pupils. Along with other London museums and galleries we are participating in The Young Graduates Museums and Galleries Programme of work experience for gifted and talented teenagers from state schools, with at least a third of these being from minority ethnic backgrounds. http://www.britishmuseum.org/learning/schools_and_teachers/young_graduates.aspx When opportunities are available we participate in the Arts council England Inspire Programme to offer postgraduate curatorial work experience, The Museums Association's Diversify Scheme providing entry level work experience to graduates http://www.museumsassociation.org/careers/diversify, and other relevant government or sector sponsored schemes such as the 'culture Quarter Programme' http://www.culturequarterprogramme.co.uk/ All opportunities for work placements must come through the Personnel department and are offered in accordance with our Interns, Work placement and volunteers policy.
environment and terms of employment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> We ensure that the Gallery's work environment and terms of employment remain attractive and do not exclude particular groups from participating in employment at the Gallery. This includes liaising with 'Access to work' for adults with disabilities when required. Employee's views about working at the Gallery are tested through employee surveys. Guidelines on flexible working have been drawn up and are available to all staff. We monitor the percentage of part-time and job-sharing workers at the Gallery

SECTION TWO GeNeRIC ACTIvITIEs

each individual and department has a part to play

equalitysteering Group (esG)	The ESG is responsible for improving equality in all aspects of the Gallery's services and ensures we meet legal requirements and regulations. It works to establish models of good practice and achieve the highest possible standards with a cross-organisational approach where consideration for equality is the responsibility of every department. It reviews existing provision, sets procedures, standards of practice and refers to guidelines to be endorsed by all departments. It formulates the Action Plan based on policy priorities and oversees its implementation. One representative from each department must attend the ESG which meets quarterly. They are responsible for feeding back from each meeting to their teams. Meetings are minuted and circulated to members and staff. Departments will be required to review the Equality Action Plan annually for improvements and achievements, and update the ESG. This information will then be fed back to the Senior Management Team. disability Action Group (dAG)	This group consists of representatives from a variety of organisations working with and for people with disabilities as well as visitors with disabilities. Representatives from relevant departments attend these quarterly meetings to discuss specific areas of the Action Plan. Feedback from the DAG is presented to the ESG after each meeting.

Purchase of services and supplies	All staff with procurement responsibility receive relevant training and will review all contracts regularly to ensure that external contractors/organisations comply with obligations and liabilities under the Equality Act 2010 and that monitoring arrangements are built into agreements with contractors.
Printed materials	continue to produce and provide alternative formats of leaflets, captions and all relevant printed materials such as Braille, large print or family labels. To engage and ensure the widest possible audience has access to the collection and the work of the Gallery.
Interactive resources	Ensure all information and interactive resources such as Portrait Explorer, Audio Guides and interactive displays are accessible to visitors. Enhanced audio and touch screen functions, subtitled video interviews, and readymade tour plans can now encourage an appreciation of the diversity within the collection.
services	Our teams of staff are multi-lingual, have diversity and disability awareness, consider the needs of individuals and work to maintain the dignity of all. The term 'visitor' should be interpreted in the widest sense – all staff are encouraged to consider: 'Who are the visitors to your department?'
Projects	Where appropriate, if new projects or programmes are developed e.g. exhibition, display, webpage, process, product, the ESG, DAG, etc, relevant experts are asked to validate, quality assure or double check that we are meeting everyone's needs. Where appropriate, internal projects or working parties consist of a diverse mix of staff to include, for example, new starters, long-term employees, a variety of different roles, etc.
reporting	Updated statistics, activities and achievements from the Equality Action Plan are included in the Gallery's Annual Review distributed to the Gallery's stakeholders and available to all at www.npg.org.uk . Data is provided and circulated on use of website and its accessible links. Figures and disability issues are addressed within the Gallery's Business Plan and Annual Report, and are sent to the Department for culture Media and Sport (DcMS).
